$240 per person from other nonprofit programs; $720 cap
($50 materials fee per person for more than 3)
$370 per person for private attorneys and their staff
Registration fee includes a copy of the training manual

This intensive two-day training will review common and complex issues in family-based immigration law. Topics include: establishing qualifying relationships for family-based petitions; adjustment and consular processing procedures; the Child Status Protection Act; changes in affidavit of support; inadmissibility grounds; and strategies for filing waivers. Through the use of lecture and group exercises, the training will provide a detailed and practical overview of family-based immigration. Participants will receive CLINIC's Family-Based Immigration manual. The training will be presented by Charles Wheeler, Director, Division of Training and Technical Support, CLINIC and Allison Davenport, Staff Attorney at Centro Legal De La Raza.

The training is for the staff of Catholic Charities and other community-based organizations with IRS 501(c)(3) status, and attorneys and legal worker staff of private law offices. The training is intended for legal workers and lawyers new to immigration law practice, and for more experienced advocates in need of review or updates.

Space is limited. The deadline for registration is June 6th. For more information, call Chris Ozaki at (415) 394-9371.
