II. Brief Overview of Parole at the U.S.-Mexico Border

Humanitarian Parolees | Afghans arriving along the U.S.-Mexico border may be paroled into the United States pursuant to section 212(d)(5) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA) as "humanitarian parolees." This commonly occurs for those who present at a port of entry and are designated as "arriving aliens."

Conditional Parolees | Afghans who entered or attempted to enter the United States without inspection, and who were subsequently detained at the border, may be issued an Order of Release on Recognizance, pursuant to section 236(a)(2)(B) of the INA. The Department of Homeland Security (DHS) typically does not consider those who enter or attempt to enter the United States without inspection to have been paroled into the United States, even if they are subsequently released into the United States. DHS refers to this class of persons as "conditional parolees." This stance has implications for both benefits access and employment authorization.

Both groups of individuals (whether "arriving aliens" paroled into the country or individuals who entered or attempted to enter without inspection, were detained, then subsequently released) are likely to be issued Notices to Appear and placed into removal proceedings before the immigration court. This Guide will outline key considerations related to both types of parole, with the aim of equipping legal practitioners and resettlement staff with guidance on immigration legal implications, documentation, benefits eligibility, and other resources to assist Afghans who have crossed the U.S.-Mexico border.

III. Humanitarian Parole

1. Documentation

Examples of evidence of humanitarian parole status includes Form I-94, Arrival/Departure Record, that is endorsed with a parole stamp, or a parole stamp in a passport. Humanitarian parolees often have a paper I-94 that shows the section of law that they were paroled under: INA § 212(d)(5). Their I-94 may also refer to a class of admission such as "OAR" (Operation Allies Refuge) or "DT" (the code for those granted what's known as "port parole"). Both OAR and DT signify that the individual has been granted humanitarian parole. If an individual did not receive a paper Form I-94, they may also be able to access an electronic I-94 from the CBP website at https://i94.cbp.dhs.gov/I94/#/home or through the CBP One Mobile App. ICE can also issue humanitarian parole to Afghan nationals who are released from detention near the border by issuing them a document called Interim Authorization of Parole (INAP) in lieu of Form I-94. The INAP will show the section of law they were paroled under: INA § 212(d)(5). An INAP providing an Afghan parole under this section of the INA may still state that the parolee is not authorized for work, but this is overridden by the Additional Afghanistan Supplemental Appropriations Act, 2022 (Public Law 117-70) and successor legislation, which has been interpreted by DHS to make Afghan parolees under § 212(d)(5) of the INA employment authorized incident to status. This is unique to Afghan parolees.

2. Parole Duration

Unlike humanitarian parole through "OAW" (Operation Allies Welcome), humanitarian parole issued to Afghans at the border can vary in length (two weeks to under one year), and on average lasts three months. Afghan nationals issued an INAP are usually granted parole for a period of one year of parole beginning on the date they are released from detention. This period may be extended only at ICE's discretion. It is critical that you check the parole expiration date indicated on the I-94, parole stamp, or INAP, as the duration of parole will determine 1) the duration of eligibility for certain benefits and 2) the timeframe for the client to take immigration legal action to ensure continuity of status and work authorization once their humanitarian parole expires.

3. Immigration Legal Implications

Humanitarian parole is temporary in nature and alone will not provide a permanent option to remain in the United States. Please ensure that individuals are referred to immigration legal practitioners. It is crucial that they consult with an authorized legal practitioner, as many people claim to be immigration practitioners but are not immigration attorneys or representatives accredited by the Department of Justice to offer immigration legal advice.

If a client is given a Notice to Appear (NTA) and that NTA is actually filed with the court, this indicates that the client is in active removal proceedings. It is extremely important that the legal practitioner confirm the Immigration Court hearing date and time. The client must be present at their Immigration Court hearing. Failing to appear before court at the assigned court date and time could result in an order of removal (deportation) in absentia. The easiest way to look up a client's immigration court hearing is through the automated website of the Executive Office for Immigration Review ("EOIR"), available at https://acis.eoir.justice.gov/en/. This requires the client's A-Number. An individual's A-Number appears on the top right corner of their NTA and is titled "File Number." By typing their A-Number into the EOIR website, you will be able to confirm the date, time, and location of their upcoming immigration court hearing. If the A number is not found in the system, that typically means that the case has not yet been filed with the immigration court. It is recommended that the client check the website at least weekly to confirm whether an initial hearing has been scheduled for their case.

Consideration of an asylum application is critical and time-sensitive: there is a one-year asylum filing deadline from the asylum seeker's date of arrival. Most Afghans paroled at the U.S.-Mexico border will be placed into removal proceedings and will therefore file their asylum application with the immigration court. If their removal proceedings were dismissed by DHS or terminated by the Immigration Judge, then the applicant is eligible to file their asylum application with United States Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) instead of defensively with the immigration court. Upon filing for asylum, the client may generally apply for an Employment Authorization Document (EAD) once 150 days have passed since filing their asylum application.

Clients must be advised of the importance of keeping their address up to date. This includes updating their address with both USCIS via Form AR-11 and with EOIR via Form EOIR-33. Both forms can be submitted either electronically or through the mail.

4. Work Authorization

Certain Afghan parolees are authorized to work incident to their parole status for a period of 90 days. These parolees may present their unexpired Form I-94 to their employer to show their identity and employment authorization for I-9 employment verification purposes. After 90 days, these parolees must present additional documentation to show their valid employment authorization, including an EAD or an unrestricted Social Security card and List B document.

Afghan nationals paroled under an INAP are permitted to apply for an EAD immediately, and their EAD applications are fee-exempt and subject to expedited processing.

Humanitarian parolees may apply for work authorization on Form I-765 for the duration of their parole status. For Afghans, a parole-based EAD does not require a fee or fee waiver. A complicating factor is that often the duration of the applicant's parole status is shorter than the processing times for the EAD, which will result in the denial of their EAD unless their parole status is extended. Another complicating factor for those with parole status who entered along the U.S.-Mexico border is that the regulations deem parole to be terminated upon service of a Notice to Appear. USCIS has recently relied on these regulations to deny EADs even to those with facially valid parole documents. Given the complications with employment authorization, it is recommended that Afghans who were paroled along the border be referred to a legal representative as soon as possible to be assessed for asylum eligibility, or other forms of relief under the immigration laws of the United States.

5. Benefits Eligibility

Afghans granted Humanitarian Parole may be eligible for the following benefits and services:

a. Reception & Placement (R&P) Program

Afghan Humanitarian Parolees may be eligible for enrollment into the Reception & Placement (R&P) Program funded by the U.S. Department of State's Bureau of Populations, Refugees, and Migration (PRM).

- Affiliates will need to request "assurance" with PRM, requiring copies of clients' documentation of humanitarian parole.
- It will be critical for these clients to be connected to immigration legal services as soon as possible.
- Through the R&P Program, the client may receive the full scope of core services for 90 days or may alternatively opt into the cash-based model, per the local resettlement agency's discretion, and in alignment with the agency's cash-based model policy.
- Connection with public benefits and social services (employment, ESL, public benefits like SNAP, Medicaid, cash assistance, WIC) are part of the required R&P core services. Please note that the duration of mainstream federal benefits follows the duration of humanitarian parole, and thus, can be very brief (often 3 months) for clients who were granted humanitarian parole at the border. Please keep this in mind when discussing mainstream federal benefits eligibility with clients.

R&P Service Period: Per PRM's guidance, so long as the client is still in valid parole "status" as of the first day of their service period (the date of assurance), clients can and should benefit from the entire R&P service period, even if the client's status changes or expires during their R&P service period. Note that if the client uses the R&P cash-based model, the R&P service period may be shorter than the traditional 90-day R&P service period. Any expenditure made to, or on behalf of, the client must be made during the client's 90-day R&P service period.

b. Office of Refugee Resettlement (ORR) Benefits and Services

Per the Afghan Supplemental Appropriations (ASA) Act, Afghan Humanitarian Parolees may be eligible to enroll in ASA-funded ORR benefits and services, including but not limited to:

- Immigration Legal Services for Afghan Arrivals (ILSAA)
- Matching Grant (MG)*
- Preferred Communities (PC)*
- PC-Afghan Supplemental Program
- Refugee Cash Assistance (RCA)
- Refugee Medical Assistance (RMA)
- Refugee Support Services (RSS)

 Specialized ORR Programs, including health services, technical assistance for small businesses, financial savings, youth mentoring, or other targeted support groups. Click here for more details on ORR-services for Afghan Humanitarian Parolees.

*Note: Afghan Parolees are eligible for ORR services for the duration of their parole period. Certain ORR programs, such as Matching Grant and Preferred Communities require clients to remain eligible for the entirety of the program's service period duration (8 months for Matching Grant and 6-24 months for Preferred Communities). If the program's service period surpasses the duration of parole (average 3 months) for Afghan humanitarian parolees who have crossed the U.S.-Mexico border) these programs may not be a viable program option.

PC Afghan Supplemental Program:

The PC Afghan Supplemental Program may be a good option for Afghan Humanitarian Parolees who have crossed the U.S.-Mexico border. Through this program, offices may offer the following services throughout the duration of the client's parole: case management, direct assistance (to cover housing, medical needs, and other emergency material aid), immigration legal assistance, social integration support, and referrals to other programs and services that may best serve the needs of the client.

Note: As noted above, Afghan Parolees are eligible for ORR services for the duration of their parole period. Per ORR's guidance, any expenditure made to, or on behalf of, a client enrolled in the PC Afghan Supplemental Grant must be expended while the client's humanitarian parole "status" is valid. Note, however, that the expenditure may cover assistance (e.g. housing direct assistance) that benefits the client beyond the duration of humanitarian parole as long as the expenditure takes place while the client is "in status."

Immigration Legal Services for Afghan Arrivals (ILSAA):

Funded by ORR and implemented by the U.S. Committee for Refugees and Immigrants (USCRI), ILSAA offers free immigration legal assistance to qualifying Afghans, including humanitarian parolees. Services are available throughout the United States. For more information and to submit a request for assistance, please see: https://ilsaa.acf.hhs.gov/afghan-arrivals/.

Note on ORR Funded Immigration Legal Assistance: Per ORR's guidance at this time, Afghan Humanitarian Parolees may benefit from all ASA-funded ORR benefits except legal representation for a defensive asylum case (e.g. if client has been issued a Notice to Appear, evincing that the client is in active removal proceedings).

c. Mainstream Federal Benefits (Medicaid, SNAP, SSI, TANF)

Afghan humanitarian parolees may be eligible to apply for federal mainstream benefits in their state, such as:

- Supplemental Security Income (SSI)
- Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF)
- Health insurance through Medicaid
- Food assistance through Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP)

USCIS typically does not consider benefits received while the applicant was in an immigration category exempt from public charge inadmissibility in any future public charge analysis. Therefore, there is no disadvantage to applying for public benefits for which Afghan parolees may be eligible. Please note that the duration of mainstream federal benefits follows the duration of humanitarian parole, and thus, can be very brief (often 3 months) for clients who were granted humanitarian parole at the border. Please keep this in mind when discussing mainstream federal benefits eligibility with clients. #### d. State-Funded Benefits (Varies by State)

State-funded public benefits can vary greatly by state. For questions concerning state-funded public benefits, offices should consult their State Refugee Coordinator.

IV. Conditional Parole

1. Documentation

DHS often issues Form I-220A, Order of Release on Recognizance, to people who are detained at the border upon entry and thereafter released without being paroled under humanitarian parole. DHS refers to this class of persons as "conditional parolees." Form I-220A states that the "conditional parolee" has been granted conditional parole into the United States as authorized by section 236 of the INA. While many advocates have argued that these individuals have actually been paroled into the United States under section 212(d)(5), as this is arguably the only statutory basis for their release, DHS continues to treat these individuals differently for purposes of benefits and employment authorization. People to whom DHS grants so-called "conditional parole" are released from detention pending a decision on whether they are to be removed from the United States.

2. Parole Duration

When DHS releases someone under a grant of what they refer to as "conditional parole," the documents that evince conditional parole do not show a date that the parole expires.

3. Immigration Legal Implications

DHS contends that people granted conditional parole are not considered truly paroled into the U.S. as are humanitarian parolees under INA § 212(d)(5). "Conditional parolees" must follow certain conditions in order to maintain their parole, including that they must report to any interview or hearing as required by DHS or the Immigration Judge, attend their "check-ins" with ICE as outlined in the Form I-220A, secure permission to change residence from DHS before they move, and follow all laws.

Typically, these individuals will have received an NTA upon release from detention with their Form I-220A. An NTA generally indicates that the client is in active removal proceedings. It is extremely important that the legal practitioner confirm the Immigration Court hearing date and time. The client must be present at their Immigration Court Hearing. Failing to appear before court at the assigned court date and time could result in an order of removal (deportation) in absentia. The easiest way to look up a client's immigration court hearing is through the automated website of the Executive Office for Immigration Review (EOIR), available at https://acis.eoir.justice.gov/en/. This requires the client's A-Number. An individual's A-Number appears on the top right corner of their NTA and is titled "File Number." By typing their A-Number into the EOIR website, you will be able to confirm the date, time, and location of their upcoming immigration court hearing. If the A-Number is not found in the system, that typically means that the case has not yet been filed with the immigration court. It is recommended that the client check the website at least weekly to confirm whether an initial hearing has been scheduled for their case.

Consideration of an asylum application is critical and time-sensitive: there is a one-year asylum filing deadline from the asylum seeker's date of arrival. Afghans conditionally paroled at the U.S.-Mexico border pending the outcome of their removal proceedings will file their asylum application with the immigration court. Upon filing for asylum, the client may generally apply for an Employment Authorization Document (EAD) once 150 days have passed since filing their asylum application.

Clients must be advised of the importance of keeping their address up to date. This includes updating their address with both USCIS via Form AR-11 and with EOIR via Form EOIR-33. Both forms can be submitted either electronically or through the mail.

4. Work Authorization

Conditional parole does not grant employment authorization, and a person whom DHS claims to have conditionally paroled is not eligible to apply for an EAD based solely on receipt of Form I-220A. However, there may be other possible bases for work authorization, including based on an asylum application that has been pending for at least 150 days.

5. Benefits Eligibility

Afghans who crossed the U.S.-Mexico Border and who were released under Conditional Parole are not eligible for the resettlement benefits and services through the State Department's Reception & Placement program or services funded by the Office of Refugee Resettlement. Clients with Conditional Parole are generally not eligible for mainstream federal benefits (Medicaid, SNAP, SSI, TANF). However, certain states may offer state-funded benefits for certain emergency cases regardless of immigration status (such as Emergency Medicaid), as well as benefits for certain non-citizen groups. For example, pregnant women and children may be eligible for Medicaid and SNAP (via SNAP for Women, Infants, and Children, "WIC"), regardless of immigration status. Receipt of such benefits on their own will not render such individuals inadmissible on public charge grounds. Please note that State-funded benefits programs and eligibility may vary by state. For more information on public benefits for immigrants, please see the following resources from National Immigration Law Center (NILC):

V. Redacted Documentation Samples

Form I-94, Arrival/Departure Form

USCIS, CBP, and ICE issue Form I-94, Arrival/Departure Record, in either paper or electronic format, to noncitizens who have been granted humanitarian parole and serves as evidence of their immigration status or category. Afghan humanitarian parolees may receive a paper I-94 endorsed with a parole stamp, or a parole stamp in a passport, indicating the dates of parole duration and the section of immigration law that they were paroled under: INA § 212(d)(5).

Interim Notice Authorizing Parole (INAP)

ICE issues an Interim Notice Authorizing Parole (INAP) in paper format, to noncitizens who have been issued humanitarian parole following release from ICE custody and serves as evidence of their immigration category. The INAP indicates the duration of parole and the section of immigration law that they were paroled under: INA § 212(d)(5). An INAP providing an Afghan parole under this section of the INA may still state that the parolee is not authorized for work, but this is overridden by the Additional Afghanistan Supplemental Appropriations Act, 2022 (Public Law 117-70) and successor legislation, which has been interpreted by DHS to make Afghan parolees under § 212(d)(5) of the INA employment authorized incident to status. This is unique to Afghan parolees.

INTERIM NOTICE AUTHORIZING PAROLE

This letter is to inform you that U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) has decided to parole you from its custody pursuant to its authority under section 212(d)(5)(A) of the Immigration and Nationality Act. This notice is being issued to you in lieu of Form I-94, Arrival-Departure Record, see 8 C.F.R. § 235.1(h)(2), and you should maintain a copy of this letter in your possession at all times.

Your parole authorization is valid for one year beginning from the date on this notice and will automatically terminate upon your departure or removal from the United States or at the end of the one-year period unless ICE provides you with an extension at its discretion. ICE may also terminate parole on notice prior to the automatic termination date. Parole is entirely within the discretion of ICE and can be terminated at any time and for any reason. Your parole is not valid for work authorization and is not an admission in lawful status.

Parole is conditioned on you complying with the terms and conditions of your release. You must notify ICE and the immigration judge of any address correction or address change. You must report for every scheduled hearing before the immigration court and every appointment as directed by ICE (including for removal from the United States should you become subject to a final removal order). You must not violate any local, State or Federal laws or ordinances. You must comply with any other specified conditions if identified separately.
